One Sugarloaf Centre Marks Construction Milestone

Brand Properties Class A Office Development Will Be Home to Area's Premier Businesses; Building is Already 70 Percent Pre-Leased

LAWRENCEVILLE Officials from Brand Properties were joined today by Gwinnett business and civic leaders to mark the ground breaking of One Sugarloaf Centre, Brand Properties' newest office development in the county's central business district.

One Sugarloaf Centre is a four-story, Class A office building, with 110,000 square feet of lease space, located at 1960 Satellite Boulevard in Duluth, at the corner of I-85 and Sugarloaf Parkway.

"We are excited to celebrate this milestone for One Sugarloaf Centre. We broke ground with 70 percent of the development pre-leased to Gwinnett's most prominent business leaders and we are working toward a completion date of September 2009," says Brand Morgan, chief executive officer, Brand Properties. "I think you would be hard pressed to find a better site for an office building in Gwinnett County."

Offering all the amenities expected in a Class A office building, One Sugarloaf Centre will feature prominent visibility to Sugarloaf Parkway. Additionally, One Sugarloaf Centre is Gwinnett County's first Class A spec office venture registered with the U.S. Green Building Council with the intention of pursuing certification under the USGBC's LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) program.

One Sugarloaf Centre's tenant marquee already includes attorneys at law Andersen, Tate and Carr; developer Wayne Mason; Arlington Capital's Richard Tucker; accounting firm Moore, Stephens, Tiller; Garrard Construction; Wheeler Kolb Management Company; Gwinnett Community Bank; and J.D.
